

SCOTTISH COMPETITION LAW FORUM

First Anniversary Meeting 30 November 2006

The Scottish Competition Law Forum is delighted to invite you to its first First Anniversary Meeting in Edinburgh on 30 November.

The evening will be an occasion for the members of the Forum to gather and reflect on a promising first year in the life of the SCLF, and to look ahead to 2007 and discuss the direction and priorities of the Forum.

We are delighted to welcome The Hon. Sir Andrew Park as our keynote speaker. Sir Andrew will be reflecting on his involvement as judge in the Crehan case. Our after dinner speaker will be Ian Forrester QC of White and Case (Microsoft, Bosman, IMS).

The evening will get underway with a drinks reception at the office of Shepherd and Wedderburn, at which the organising committee will reflect with members on actions and plans for the Forum going forward.

This will be followed by a dinner, in the true spirit of Saint Andrews Day, at the Scotch Malt Whisky Society.

Meetings of the Forum are run on the understanding that all discussion and conversation takes place under the Chatham House Rule. Accordingly, while participants are free to use the information received, neither the identity nor the affiliation of the speaker(s), nor that of any other participant, may be divulged.
